

THE LIVER RESEARCH KNOWLEDGE | PRACTICE | CURE FUND

Advanced liver research has the potential to save lives and dramatically expand our medical and scientific knowledge. But as the need for research is increasing, traditional funding is diminishing, grants from the NIH are inconsistent, and private funding has dropped steadily.

The Liver Research Fund provides immediate funding for AASLD educational grants, research awards, and fellowships that are vital to finding new treatments for liver diseases. To do this, we are enlisting the support of those who share our passion for hepatology, including you.

Please join us in this critical effort to support the clinical and basic research that will lead to life saving treatments.
